

Your attention heals my heart. The word "attention" can be the most powerful medicine, a panacea that can heal my soul and rejuvenate my life. Especially when you know a friend or family member is going through a challenging time.

Love

Dream

You are always in my dreams. This coffee mug can be used to surprise someone that you really care for. This mug will persuade anyone's heart of my appreciation.

Ambition

Being near you increases my ambition. All too often, our success is a product of the environment we are in. Those who contribute to that ambition makes us successful without humble gratitude.

Have you ever met someone for the first time that changed your entire life, and you never had a chance to express your gratitude toward that person? This mug will be the perfect gift for him/her.

Meeting You

Searching for You

We all spend what seems to be a lifetime looking for that special someone: a loved one, friend, or neighbor. The one who will complete and make us feel safe.